Values of Culture & Creativity is a blog written by Joost Heinsius, devoted to the social values of art and culture. In his blog, Joost explores and describes these values and discusses how institutions, makers and the rest of society benefit from them. Please contact him if you have any questions or comments. You can also subscribe to his Newsletter.